Dear Mr. Hasbrouck:

The National Commission on Military, National, and Public Service (the Commission) received your appeal dated September 10, 2020, related to Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) requests 2018-SP-01, 2018-SP-03, 2019-CP-01, 2019-SP-01, and 2019-SP-04. As explained herein, the Commission denies your appeal.

Although your letter asserts that you “appeal, in its entirety and with respect to each adverse decision with respect to all or any portion of my request, the Commission’s denial of my FOIA requests,” you provided no cognizable basis for an appeal. Without a ground upon which to review the decisions of the FOIA office, I can do nothing more than deny the appeal.

In addition, your assertion of an entitlement to submit additional arguments in support of this appeal at any time within the 90 days of the initial denial with a corresponding requirement that the Commission retain all related records during that time is not recognized under FOIA or in the Commission’s FOIA regulations.

As you are aware, the Commission’s permanent records will be transferred to the National Archives Records Administration (NARA), and many of the Commission’s temporary records are subject to destruction under its published records schedule at the end of the Commission’s existence. Out of an abundance of caution, NARA intends to retain these temporary records until December 7, 2020, for the purpose of allowing you to address any further legal rights related to this specific FOIA request. Questions about this matter may be addressed to NARA’s FOIA Public Liaison Gary M. Stern, at garym.stern@nara.gov.

If you have any questions about this response or the FOIA process in general, please contact our FOIA Public Liaison, Peter Morgan, at peter.n.morgan@inspire2serve.gov, and NARA.

You have the right to seek judicial review by filing a lawsuit in the district court of the United States in the district in which you reside, your principal place of business, the Eastern District of Virginia, or in the District of Columbia. You may also seek dispute resolution services, which are offered by the Office of Government Information Services (OGIS) at NARA. You can learn more about these services at <https://www.archives.gov/ogis/mediation-program> or by contacting OGIS at:

Address: 8601 Adelphi Road – OGIS, College Park, MD 20740
